Course Design Evaluation

Standard
Standard	Annotation	Example
The learning design is evaluated on a regular basis for effectiveness from both the student and instruction perspectives.	Student surveys and instructor feedback guide in determining effectiveness of the course.	Students complete a survey during the middle and end of the semester to provide feedback.
The results of the evaluation are tied to a plan for continuous review and improvement of the course.	Evaluation results guide in improving the course.	Evaluation results are used to make improvements to the course.
Exemplary
Exemplary	Annotation	Example
The evaluations are part of the documentation of the course.	Evaluations are kept with the course to provide information on effectiveness.	A spreadsheet of the evaluation results is created to be part of the course documentation.